Flatware & Steelforme Maintenance Tips

FORTESSA METALWARE™

Flatware and Holloware are two of the most important items in a foodservice operator's budget. These products require good care to retain their original beauty and value throughout their servlced life. Below are a few basic care and handling procedures that help maintain the appearance and quality of metalware products.

Pre-wash
Pre-wash silver plated or stainless steel items. NEVER leave knives, forks, spoons or any flatware unwashed for long periods of time. After servlced they should be pre-washed with hot water and proper detergent (Chlorine-free). Pre-wash should be done in the appropriate basket taking care not to mix forks and spoons and knives!! This is important to prevent scratching.

Studies show that more than 70% of corrosion is the result of food soil left on the flatware. Acid in the food (tartaric - tannic - citric, etc.) is the starting point of pitting or surface corrosion.

Washing
Washing should be done as soon as possible, using a proper plastic basket with compartments for forks, spoons, and knives. Different items should never be mixed in the same compartment (scratches). Spoons, forks, and knives should be stood with head up to allow proper washing and drying.
Take time to inspect and check that the proper quantity and quality of detergent is used as well as water softener to avoid extremely damaging calcium deposits (stain marks and in the long run pitting).

Drying
Proper drying should be carried out to avoid water spotting particularly on the blades of knives. Diners think water spots on the blades mean poor cleaning and "dirty" tableware. Improper drying may also lead to corrosion.

Silver flatware and holloware need the same maintenance. With the silver there are additional problems of oxidation or sulphurization. An expensive burnishing machine is no solution to those problems. The simplest steps are the most effective: Pre-washing, washing, and drying.

Siza Port

The official Port glass of the Instituto dos Vinhos do Douro e Porto (IDVP) was designed by the famous contemporary Portuguese architect Alvaro Siza. The revolutionary design features a quadrilateral stem with a finger notch cut into one side for perfect glass handling. The foot of the glass has four recessed areas that allow the glass to be held by its base with two fingers.

Today the best restaurants will match their wine list to the menu. This is to ensure each dish has a choice of complimentary wines that enhance the diner's enjoyment.
At home the appreciation of wine is also growing, as more and more people discover the pleasure of exploring the world of wine. However, as experts will attest, each wine benefits greatly from being served in the right type of glass. Acquiring a well designed set of glasses and a decanter is the first step to enhancing your appreciation of wine.

The skill of glass making requires handcrafted precision - An art which has yet to be rivaled

HANDMADE MOUTHBLOWN

THE COMPLETE CANON OF CRYSTAL GLASS

Enoteca provides a complete range of connoisseur glasses in high quality crystal glass. Our titanium crystal means the glass bowls can be thin walled but still retain great resilience. The Enoteca range includes exquisite bowl shapes which are designed to enhance varieties of red wine and white wines. There are also different stems for sparkling wines and champagnes. The collection is completed with special shapes for aperitifs, after dinner cordials, cocktails, and mineral water. A complete connoisseur's collection!
